

Virgin Islands Update and the Grenadines Plan

Its Beautiful in the Virgin Islands and Nobody is Here

In the aftermath of hurricanes Irma and Maria we have had the Virgin Islands virtually to ourselves. The normally big crowds during the busy holiday season were non-existent. Everything is so green, the water is warm and clear, the beaches are beautiful, the snorkeling is great, and so is the sailing. While St. Thomas has made an amazing recovery, many of the other islands have a bit more work ahead. Beach bars & restaurants are operating in a "rustic" mode reminiscent of the Virgin Islands back in the good old days.

This provides an opportunity to experience the Virgin Islands in a way that guests have not seen for many years.

Jalapeno in the Grenadines May, June and Fall 2018

The interest in joining us for segments of the trip from the Virgin Islands to the Grenadines was light, while the sailing once we get the Grenadines seems to be what most of you want to do. They are a great place for a sailing vacation. So we will get Jalapeno to the Grenadines in May for several weeks of May and June charters. After a summer break Jalapeno will still be in the Grenadines for October and November charters. Come on down.

For those who want a bit more adventure, we are still open to charters during the trip down this Spring, and back up the island chain in the Fall.

If you think you might want to take advantage of this special time in the Virgin Islands, or sail the Grenadines this Spring or Fall, email ray@jalapenocharters.com to discuss availability.
